

NALOXONE TRAINING FOR TRAINERS

Wednesday 10th November 2021
2.30pm - 5.00pm
Online

Course Overview

The course will cover the core areas of drug-related deaths on a global, national and local scale, opiate over dose prevention and risk factors and high-risk times for overdose. It explores methods and models of community-based delivery and adult learning. There will be an in-depth look at Naloxone, its actions, kit assembly and administration. Specific attention will be paid to overdose intervention and basic life support with Naloxone. The course will be followed by a reflective practice session.

By the end of the course, participants will be able to:

- Describe evidence-based overdose prevention and Naloxone messages
- Demonstrate an understanding of Scotland's National Naloxone Programme
- Identify observable signs and symptoms of a depressant overdose and advise of the appropriate response accordingly
- Demonstrate the skills and knowledge to provide training and to supply (if applicable) take-home Naloxone to people who use opioids or those likely to witness an overdose.
- Deliver training in overdose prevention, intervention and Naloxone
- Provide awareness sessions to other staff on overdose prevention/Naloxone
- Be confident and competent to supply Naloxone without the need for a prescription or patient group direction in line with legislation

Aimed at:

- Health, Social Care and Voluntary Organisation staff who are in contact with people who use drugs, their families and significant others.
